

SnapLogic

Agentic Integration / iPaaS · San Mateo, CA · Private (a16z, Microsoft, Silver Lake Waterman, Sixth Street, Capital One Ventures)

SnapLogic appointed a President and expanded its C-suite the same day, while direct rival Confluent sits on the Williams livery - SnapLogic cannot cede the enterprise-credibility stage to a competitor.

THE CASE

On 12 May 2026 SnapLogic appointed Molly Matthews (ex-Microsoft enterprise GTM) as President while simultaneously promoting its Chief Customer Officer and Chief People Officer - a deliberate scale-up posture carrying new budget authority and appetite for brand investment. Backed by a16z, Microsoft, Silver Lake Waterman, Sixth Street and Capital One Ventures, with $100M+ ARR confirmed in August 2025 and customers including AstraZeneca, Adobe, Verizon and Sony, the company has both the means and the motive. The decisive competitive signal: Confluent, a direct iPaaS rival, is an active partner on the Williams 2026 livery, putting a competitor on motorsport's enterprise-credibility stage in front of the exact CTO and CDO audience SnapLogic needs.

WHY NOW

Matthews's appointment created a leadership window in which new Presidents routinely approve first-mover brand investments to establish a GTM identity, and that window narrows by the week. Simultaneously, Confluent's Williams presence hardens with every race weekend, so a rival-team announcement now reframes the narrative before the competitor's association solidifies - the urgency is genuinely time-boxed.

WHY ASTON MARTIN

Aston Martin (with McLaren as an alternative) places SnapLogic directly opposite Confluent's Williams partnership - turning a competitor's sponsorship into SnapLogic's own urgency argument and landing the brand in front of the same enterprise IT decision-makers. Aston Martin's premium gravitas and open integration category make it the cleanest counter-position.

VALUE TO ASTON MARTIN — MODE A (TECH IN THE CAR / CHAMPIONSHIP)

MODE A. Integration and automation tooling maps to a team's sprawling systems estate - sponsor and commercial data, logistics, and telemetry pipelines that must talk to each other - so SnapLogic can support a real technical-partner narrative and a working integration rather than a logo, while the team gains genuine connectivity tooling.

DEAL ARCHITECTURE

Associate / Official Partner tier on Aston Martin (or McLaren): garage access, digital inventory and B2B hospitality. MINIMUM THREE YEARS - re-architected up from the original two-year proposal in Brief N 009 - at ~$3-5M/yr, calibrated to $100M+ ARR, with integration-category exclusivity.

PRIMARY DECISION-MAKER

Molly Matthews
PRESIDENT, SNAPLOGIC (APPOINTED 12 MAY 2026) - VERIFIED VIA BRIEF N 009

Former Microsoft enterprise GTM leader with deep experience scaling commercial organisations globally. Her first major brand-investment decisions fall squarely within her new mandate and budget authority, making her the right entry point. Co-decision-maker: the CEO for marquee spend (a founder-level CEO+President alignment is the fastest path).

OPENING ANGLE

"Molly, your closest competitor just bought a car. Which grid slot is SnapLogic taking - opposite Confluent, in front of the same CTOs - for the next three years?"

SCORE COMPOSITION

TIMING 17 / 20 President Molly Matthews appointed May 12 2026 alongside CCO and CPO promotions; the leadership honeymoon window is open but narrowing.	CAPACITY 16 / 20 $100M+ ARR (Aug 2025) on an a16z-backed balance sheet.	BRAND FIT 16 / 20 Agentic integration maps to F1 precision and forms a direct counter-narrative to Confluent on Williams.	URGENCY 15 / 20 Confluent - a direct iPaaS rival - is on the Williams 2026 livery, and the association hardens every race weekend.	OPS FIT 14 / 20 MODE A: integration/automation tooling has a credible team-systems use.

RISKS & COUNTERS

BUDGET NOT YET UNLOCKED Matthews is weeks into the role; formal budget cycles may lag her appointment. Counter: Frame as a founder-level decision requiring only CEO + President alignment, and offer a short-form LOI to hold inventory.

CONFLUENT EXCLUSIVITY CLAUSE Williams may hold category exclusivity for data-integration vendors. Counter: That is precisely the argument for a rival team - exclusivity at a competitor's team becomes a feature, not a barrier.
